

WESTCHESTER COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Humanities Institute

Cordially invites you to attend

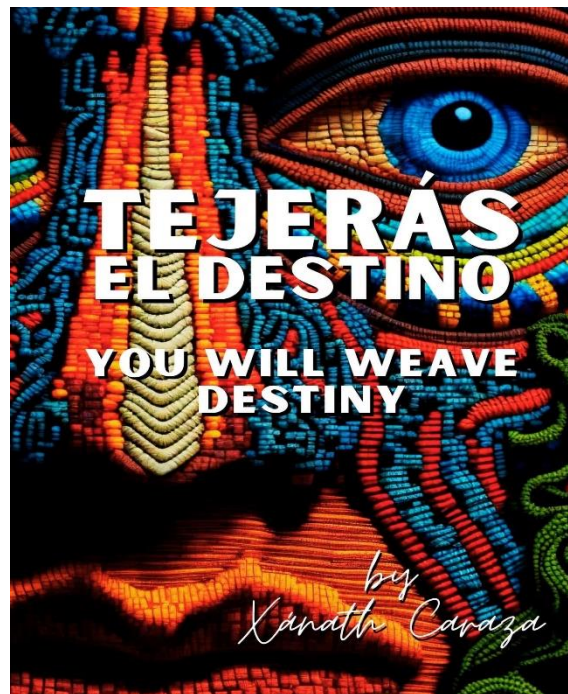

A poetry reading and discussion with

Poet Xanath Caraza

Thursday, April 18, 2024

10:00 a.m. - 11:15 a.m.

Location: Tech 107

Xánath Caraza is a traveler, educator, poet, short story writer, and translator. She writes for La Bloga and Revista Literaria Monolito. She has published numerous collections of poetry and is received multiple awards for her work. Caraza has been translated into English, Italian, Romanian, and Greek; and partially translated into Nahuatl, Portuguese, Hindi, and Turkish. Her upcoming book of poetry, Corazón de agua /Heart of Water, will be published in the Spring of 2024.

This event is part of the WCC Humanities Institute's 2023-2024 series of lectures, films, and other presentations, which has been made possible in part by a major grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities and several generous donors. Any views, findings, conclusions, or recommendations expressed in this event or this series do not necessarily represent those of the National Endowment for the Humanities. www.neh.gov