

Welcome to the first ever Diversity Adjunct Job Fair at Westchester Community College!

We are excited that you are interested in teaching opportunities at Westchester Community College and we look forward to getting to know you better. Our faculty plays a pivotal role in the personal and academic success of our students; so, we're looking for talented, caring and thoughtful people who can make our team complete.

Working with such a diverse student body is both a rewarding and challenging experience. As an Adjunct Teacher, Counselor or Librarian, you will have the unique opportunity to nurture the development of students of all ages, cultures, and interests, while building upon your own skill set. Learning is a two-way process where both parties benefit greatly.

What should you expect at this event?

You will be able to ask questions, share your resume and learn more about Westchester Community College and its offerings. We will not be prepared to make firm job offers at this event, however, we can provide insight as to how the application process works and what to expect if you are ultimately hired. Once submitted, your resume will be given consideration.

Information Tables:

There will be a number of tables staffed by departmental faculty and administrators who can give you great insight into the curricula and programs offered, as well as share their individual experience of community college teaching and administration. You do not need to visit the tables in any specific order, just those areas in which you have an expertise or interest.

Human Resources Table:

Here, you can talk to a HR Representative and pick up materials related to compensation and benefits. You may also leave your resume here, or in any HR box at any other information table, for consideration.

Visual Presentations/ Q & A:

Faculty presenters will talk about the advantages of adjunct teaching and answer general questions.

Please see the Planned Itinerary for the evening's events for further information.
