Alumni News is proud to congratulate Don Weigand and Tony Scordino on their new positions as Vice Presidents for Information Technology.

Two Alumni Named WCC Vice Presidents

The beginning of the new year brought with it the promotions of two alumni to top administrative positions at the college. Donald Weigand (class of 1972), has been appointed Vice President and Dean of Student Affairs and Anthony Scordino (class of 1987) has been promoted to Vice President of Information Technology. The appointments were made by the Board of Trustees at its November, 2011 meeting. Weigand and Scordino both have a wealth of experience and knowledge of Westchester County College. Don Weigand, who holds a Master’s degree in Guidance and Counseling, came to WCC in 1975 as an instructor in the department of Counseling and Student Development. In 1996 he was named Director of the department and in 2001 became Acting Associate Dean. Don Weigand is well known to many alumni because of his various aspects of student services and student activities over the past 37 years. In addition to working in the Financial Aid Office, he was Coordinator of Veterans Affairs and managed the WCC football team. He was recently inducted into the WCC Sports Hall of Fame in recognition of his work on behalf of the college. Anthony Scordino started his career at WCC in 1984 as an evening lab technician while he was still a student here. After graduating he attended Pace University and earned a bachelor’s degree in Management Information Systems, and went on to Brooklyn Polytechnic for his Master’s degree in Management of Technology. While furthering his education he continued to work at WCC, moving to the day shift and getting involved with the rapidly growing presence of PCs on the campus. In 1994 he lead the computer networking initiative at WCC and the following year he began teaching in the Computer Science curriculum, something he still enjoys doing. In 2007 he was promoted to Assistant Director of Information Technology, then to acting Vice President for Information Technology in 2010. Alumni News is proud to congratulate Don Weigand and Tony Scordino on their new positions as Vice Presidents for the college. The entire alumni staff and administration of Westchester Community College. They not only chose WCC as the place to begin their education, they also chose to make it the focus of their lifelong careers. Together they have given 65 years of service to WCC, and the College is certainly a better place because of their efforts. We wish them great success in the years to come.

On November 1, 2011 the Westchester Community College Alumni Association was officially established at a special meeting held in The Gateway Center. More than 100 alumni attended the meeting and voted to adopt a set of by-laws which had been drawn up by an ad hoc committee of WCC graduates. With the adoption of the by-laws, the association became an official entity. Next on the agenda was the election of members to the Alumni Council, which is the new governing body of the Alumni Association. A slate of candidates was presented to the attendees containing the names of alumni who had informed the nominating committee of their desire to join the Council. The entire slate was adopted by acclamation. The members of the Alumni Council are:

- One year term: Janice Adams, ’79; Stephanie Borg, ’09; Barbara Chesler, ’70; Michael Cubria, ’05; Louis Picciotta, ’72.
- Two year term: Lisa Stamatelos, ’01; Steve Heintz, ’70; Katie Sullivan, ’03; Mayra Rodriguez, ’74; Dr. Stephen Baranowski, ’79
- Three year term: Barbara Hutnik, ’60; Alex Kajdi, ’83; Ivan Cohen, ’75; Frank Re, ’78; Bruce Hughes, ’85.

The new Alumni Council held its first meeting on January 11 and held elections for officers. The Alumni Association has wasted no time in sponsoring its first event, Financial Education Day, which will be held on Saturday, March 10th. (See story below.) In addition, a comprehensive Alumni benefits program is being put into place and will be rolled out within the next few months. Membership in the Alumni Association is FREE and open to anyone who has taken at least 24 credits at WCC. If you have taken fewer than 24 credits you can apply for membership by calling 606-6505.

The best way to take advantage of all that will be offered to you as an alumni/alumna is to register online at www.mysunywcc.org. The Online Community will be the preferred way for us to communicate with you and yes, with us - so REGISTER TODAY.

In 1971, Cuban-born Joaquin ("Jock") Garcia was a student at WCC and a member of the football team. After completing his undergraduate education, Garcia decided to apply for a job with the FBI.

"It was after watching the movie Serpico, I realized I was dealing with an underground criminal enterprise," Garcia says. He spent a total of 26 years working as an agent, 24 of which he worked as an undercover agent specializing in narcotics. Little did he know when he began his career that he would become famous as the man who took down one of the most notorious crime families in America.

On November 9th, Jock Garcia spoke at WCC about his career as an undercover FBI agent, and how he took on the role of fronting the "Jack Falcone" family in order to infiltrate the inner circle of the mob and help take down the Gambino crime family. The success of his undercover work is noteworthy because it was with a Cuban-American, Jack Garcia was the FBI’s first Cuban undercover agent. Garcia was chosen by the FBI to play the character Jack Falcone in order to become part of the family and gather evidence which could be used against them in court. For two years, Garcia wore a recording device to listen in on conversations between members of the mob family. "Jack Falcone was the toughest character I had to play," he said, adding that none of his 100 undercover cases could compare to the Gambino case. "I was able to see a variety of mobsters and one of the things I was able to see was that they have their own culture." Garcia says his greatest fear was, "being in a situation, where I would have to stop violence. To be a mobster you have to be in an individual who is capable of making huge amounts of money, willing to do jail time, and most importantly, prepared to do violence." He also had to be vigilant when it came to making decisions about how to spend his money or his identity and that would be an automatic death sentence.

He befriended a cabinet of the Gambino family named Greg DePanza. Garcia also passed four DePanza associates who had counterfeit cigarettes and an endless amount of high-quality stolen goods, all supplied to him by the FBI.

Garcia said that his most challenging obstacle was "dealing with the bureaucracy of the FBI. They terminated this case when they should have continued. Every case I feel like we just grazed the surface. I should have been allowed to let this case go." Garcia said that his greatest achievement was convincing and winning the hearts of the mob family.

"Jock has also written a fascinating book entitled The Making of Jack Falcone, in which he tells what it was like to play his character for those two years, and what it took to bring down the most feared crime family in America. In February, 2009 CBS News ran a 13-minute profile of Jock Garcia on 60 Minutes entitled "FBI Wise Guy Foiled the Mob." The following link will take you to this segment: http://youtu.be/QBsjwLyL10

The President’s Corner

February, 2012

Dear Alum:

The Alumni Office suggested that I write to you to know that if you were to visit the campus you might not recognize parts of it since it has been undergoing extensive renovation in the last year or two. Among the projects are:

Student Center Improvement and Expansion-The 53,582 sq. ft. Student Center was originally constructed in 1961. According to New York State we have insufficient student seating and gathering space in that building. The renovation which is currently under construction will add about 8,000 sq. ft. to the building, improve the efficiency of our building systems and provide additional space as well.

Academic Arts Building Renovation-The 86,321 sq. ft. Academic Arts Building was completed in 1980. This building has had its boilers replaced. The renovations included a new heating, ventilation and air conditioning system with computerized controls; new fire alarm panels and stage flooring have also been installed.

Physical Education Building Improvements-This project is currently under design and would represent Phase 2 of 3 including upgrades of the fields on either side of the building. 18 upgrades include new drainage systems and track that will now be much better than before.

Academic Arts Building Renovation Project-The 77,500 sq. ft. Science Building was completed in 1973. It was designed as a two-building complex with the Academic Arts Building and a larger plant and chemical laboratory. The building has had its boilers replaced. The renovations included a new heating, ventilation and air conditioning system as well as a new fire alarm panel. The largest of the renovations is the installation of a new HVAC system and upgrades them with ductless split system units; exterior rehabilitation (repainting the building) has also been authorized and should be completed by May of 2012.

Physical Education Building Renovations-Extensive mechanical upgrades that will improve the building's existing wide-air conditioning system as well as upgrades to the electrical system and heating distribution system that will bring this, one of our oldest buildings up to code.

As so you can see our Physical Plant department has been very active and busy in improving the structures already on campus. Why not come and pay us a visit and see how well we’ve done? We look forward to greeting you.

Cordially yours,

Joseph N. Hankin
President

Steve Heintz, Class of ’70, was looking for a way to bring back some old friends from his days at WCC. In particular, Steve was interested in getting members of the WCC Veterans Club back for a reunion at the College. “The Veteran’s Club was a very active club at the College in the 70’s,” Steve noted. “There was a lot of friendly competition between the clubs back then and the Vets were always the first to take the lead.” There seemed to be no better occasion to launch the first reunion than by having an event around Veteran’s Day.

On Sunday, there was a brunch and a visit to WCC to see all the changes that had been made to the campus since 1961. According to New York State we have insufficient student seating and gathering space in that building. The renovation which is currently under construction will add about 8,000 sq. ft. to the building, improve the efficiency of our building systems and provide additional space as well.

All in all it was a good first step and Steve says that he hopes next year’s reunion will be bigger and better. So all you veterans out there, mark your calendar for the next reunion and bring along your old friends to share their stories and to enjoy the WCC Veteran’s Day celebration.

Kevin Morgan was re-elected to the Greenburgh Town Council last fall. During his first four years in office, Councilman Morgan interacted in budget processes and worked as the liaison with the Bedford Hills Fire Department, Department of Public Works, the Greenburgh Nature Center, and the Education Foundation of Greenburgh.

Morgan has been after an award-winning 21-year career on the Greenburgh police force, which included arresting the Gypsy murderer Larry Stevenson and working for the Fairview Fire Department. Councilman Morgan was promoted for Town Council to put his extensive knowledge of the town to good use. His police traits of research, mental sharpness and not jumping to conclusions have come in handy as a councilman. He said there is a lot of work for consultants. Morgan said, “You can’t stop getting excited about what you do and helping people. It really is good.”

I just stay active.”

Sheena Olsen is Vice President-Financial Advisor at HSBC Securities (USA), Inc. She obtained her B.A. at Columbia and recently finished her undergraduate degree in International Finance and Management, also at Columbia. According to Sheeha, “It was a priceless experience and a thrill to meet the subjects we studied so in-depth. We studied investment strategies in emerging markets, international banking along with crises, investment strategies in Latin America, Advanced Structured Credit, on and on. All classes were so timely, in-depth and thoroughly enjoyed them. I felt that I was on the forefront and had it all over the world! Some worked for central banks, consulting companies, etc. We have an international management program that I would like to be a part of. Once selected, you are assigned to a different country, different business segment every few years. Obviously, I’m a financial advisor and was the financial advisor newcomer of the year for 2009 for NYC. I’m living in New York City with my dog and doing some trail running. Sheeha still keeps in touch with Professor Hugh McCabe and credits his classes for giving her a solid background in International Business.

1995 LORRAINE HUGHES recently wrote to Dr. Han- kin to congratulate him on his fortieth anniversary as president of WCC. As a student here some 15 years ago and a current workforce in the President’s Office. Her three daughters are all graduates of WCC and went on to complete their educations in SUNY schools. One made a career change and recently graduated from the National University for her Radiology Degree last year. Lorraine wrote, “Thank you for the wonderful Alumni newsletter. I always enjoy keeping up with the latest news”.

1999 GIOVANNI FORMARO, a member of the Green- burgh Police Department since 2007, was promoted to detective on December 14th. Formaro had served the town on duty as both a parolee and a police officer for four years, after spending several years on the Larchmont force.

“I like helping people,” he said, “and the challenge of figuring out what I have to do. I love my job. I really love working as a paralegal. I love working as a cop. And having a dual role, I really don’t know what I’m going to get.”

Greenburgh Police Sergeant Antoine McVeigh said that Formaro has done everything work both as a parole officer and paralegal for the Town of Greenburgh. It is not an easy task, as there are a large number of cases.

Formaro is also the newest addition to the department’s Technical Rescue Team, beginning in late-October. The on-duty center, eligible officer, requires extensive training to meet the requirements.

Formaro was born in Canada, and his family moved to America when he was 5 years old. He graduated from Mamaroneck High School before receiving his EMS Paramedic’s degree from Westchester Community College and his bachelor’s from Pace University.

2005 DANIEL PURCELL is a 25-year member and cap- tain for the Scarsdale (NY) Fire Department. He is also a paramedic. Daniel has an Associates degree in math and science from Westchester Community College.

2009 KRISTA LEVITO, a graduate of WCC’s Fashion design program, took a leap into the very department that was featured at the Fashion Institute of Technology. She is also the recipient of an honorary degree at WCC.

A native of Wapiti, Wyoming, Amanda graduated from high school in 2009 and enrolled in Boise State University in Idaho. Amanda was accepted into the fashion industry, to visit New York and tour several fashion companies. At one of the largest clothing retailers in the country, Amanda had her first experience with textile development - he design and production - which made such an impression on her that she left Boise State and transferred to Westchester Community College in New York to study fashion merchandising.

During her second year at WCC, Amanda interned at Topper London, a fashion boutique, and moved to Man- hattan last August, working for the Fashion Institute of Technology. She is also the recipient of an Associate degree at WCC. She was accepted to NYU’s Stern College and is currently finishing her degree in Fashion, Design and Merchandising.

She is a native of the WCC Alumnotes - Story With Other Wcc Alums! page. She moves to do her full in designing and creating new fashions in the world, as a textile development student. Now, after spending a semester at FIT, Amanda interned this spring in Ralph Lauren’s textiles department in New York. “It’s a very hands-on internship,” Amanda said. “Every day we will be working with a piece of fabric.”

In working the women’s sweats and knit department, she will be responsible for the world and analyzing and developing fabrics, and ensuring standards are met for the company’s Black and Purple Label lines. “I’m looking forward to what’s coming up,” she said, “and I’m hoping to put the material up.”

She recently started a small leather project with her dad, she designs handbags, wallets and other leather products, and she works in his Wapiti shop to put the pieces together. Amanda is hoping to have some of the work featured to the Fashion Institute’s student store and, possibly, back home in Wyoming. Working with leather is something she hopes to study in Italy one day.
