Young Virtuoso

Yo-Yo Ma. He was named the Artist in Residence of the 2013 Arthur W. Foote Award, he was the youngest artist-in-residence on Performance Today during the 2011-2012 season. Among his many accolades, he understands those words more than Lee Woodruff.

Lifelong Security

Fighting For Our Health

Kirsch sees the struggle in the ACA was the culmination of a 25 year effort. Now it seems like the fight over ObamaCare will be over.

The General

Today, more than ever, military and veterans can face an uncertain future. Any war veteran, regardless of rank, can be the subject of an attack, a sexual assault, or a case of PTSD.

Everything

Marc, Piers, Phil, Paul, Jane Apple and Richard Kirshner will talk about how to make deals that can change the world.

Insanely Simple: The Obsession That Drives Apple's Success

Apple products are at the top of every must have list. Join us on June 5th to hear from Brian Lovelace to learn about the company on earth in 2012.

The Brian Lehrer Show

For the "who, what, where, when" of four children, and wife of Bob Woodruff, the story of Woodruff's journey.

CBS Sunday Morning

Crunch the numbers and take action.

Money Rules

Jean Chatzky talks about "money is simple, people make it complicated," states Jean Chatzky. Chatzky is the author of The Financial Diet and Better With Less.

Young Virtuosi: Sunday, April 6th, 5:00 PM
Back by Popular Demand! Yo-Yo Ma. He was named the Artist in Residence by the New York Philharmonic in 2011-2012. His 2013-2014 season includes 64 concerts in 50 cities. He has collaborated five times with revered cellist Pinchas Zukerman, most recently in 2013. "Ma is a major factor behind the New York Philharmonic's unparalleled success," says Maestro Daniel Barenboim. "He understands those words more than Lee Silverstein," says Sir Simon Rattle. "Yo-Yo Ma is a great artist and an incredible human being."

In An Instant: Thursday, April 18th, 5:00 PM
"Life is a challenging journey. Often the most difficult decisions are made in silence. But life is also a beautiful gift. "Eyes closed, I hear children's laughter. I recall a colleague's generosity. I remember a close friend. Her stories and articles can be found in Ladies Home Journal, Real Simple, and most recently, Redbook. The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, and frequently quoted in The Washington Post, ABC News, CBS News, and Business Week are but a few. As an author of 12 books, speaker, a newscaster, lawyer, and former FBI agent, Bob Woodruff, the author of the best-selling book, "In an Instant: How Our Young Heroes Inspire Hope, Courage, and Change," tells us how he and his family have moved forward."

Healthcare RX: Sunday, April 27th, 5:00 PM
"I'm a practicing internist, political commentator, co-founder of the Patient Advocate Foundation, and the former co-chair of the White House's Health Care Task Force. When the Affordable Care Act was passed, I said "I'll believe it when I see the patients." I have seen the patients and the healthcare system is changing. But the work is not done. Jobs are lost, premiums are rising, and the costs of healthcare are out of control. Join me and four other leading experts in healthcare, who will discuss this year's most pressing healthcare issues in America today."

On Air: Saturday, April 26th, 7:00 PM
"I used to be a human rights lawyer with a failing practice. By my 37th birthday, I was broke. So I sold the practice and started a consulting company. And I've never looked back. I've had the opportunity to advise the President and Cabinet-level officials on the most pressing issues of our time. I've appeared on PBS's The NewsHour and The Colbert Report, and won him numerous awards including seven in my book.  "I've always been interested in the intersection of politics and business. I helped establish a government guaranteed right to health care in America. I have been called a "master interviewer" by the Washington Post, "An Art of the Day" by The New York Times, and "a master interviewer" by The NewsHour."

Foot Start: Sunday, May 4th, 5:00 PM
"At last year's New York City Marathon, 44,000 runners crossed the finish line in Central Park. Most didn't win. Most didn't even finish. Most were amateurs. But many learned an important lesson. Everyone has the potential to achieve great things. And the only thing that stands between them and their goal is themselves."

Money Rules: The Simple Path to Wealth: Sunday, May 11th, 5:00 PM
"Your Money is Your Life. In this book, I show you how to achieve financial independence by solving a simple math problem. I'll call it your money equation. The equation is: Income - Expenses = Savings. But the real trick is to solve it."

The General: Wednesday, May 21st, 6:00 PM
"I was the President of the United States. But I didn't have the power to end the war in Afghanistan. Following my service in the military, Gen. Petraeus served over 37 years in the U.S. military including command of coalition forces in Afghanistan. He oversaw the U.S. Department of Justice for three years. He is a member of the board of trustees of the Aspen Institute and the CEO of the Center for Strategic & International Studies."

Apple Inc.: Sunday, June 1st, 5:00 PM
"In 2002, Apple Inc. was ailing. Steve Jobs, the company's co-founder, had been ousted. The company had not released a major new product for two years. 'I was dead,' Jobs said. "But there is one thing I was not: Defeated." Steve Jobs died in 2011. But Apple lives on. 'It's not about Steve,' said Jeff Williams. 'It's about the vision of what Steve set out to do.'"

Broadway Insider: Sunday, June 8th, 5:00 PM
"In the spring of 1995, I attended my first Broadway musical. The show was Hairspray. It was a flop. But I saw something special. The show had energy, originality, and heart. From that moment on, I knew I had to be part of Broadway."
