About the Westchester Community College Center for the Digital Arts at the Peekskill Extension

The Westchester Community College Peekskill Extension Center, established in 1994, is located in the downtown artist district of the city of Peekskill, close to other cultural centers, galleries, and restaurants and serves approximately 2,500 students per year.

The college offers a variety of technology workforce training programs and a diverse selection of credit courses each semester (fall, spring, and summer). The college's English Language Institute offers ESL programs serving students from various backgrounds and countries. A variety of support services engage students and foster their success, retention, and credential attainment, including (but not limited to) admissions, academic and financial aid advising, placement testing, bursar, registrar, academic support, workshops, and student activities. The Center offers public lectures and exhibits year round.

support to community artists and entrepreneurs who wish to work on independent projects.

The Center also offers a dynamic summer Youth Arts Technology Program offering young people an opportunity to develop a digital arts portfolio within a college environment; and fine arts courses with local artists that will enhance drawing and painting skills for both professional and personal use.

Through a variety of initiatives, the college's five extension centers serve as a liaison between the college and the community. They host community events and are involved with community-based organizations and the local business community. They offer programs specific to residents' needs, serve as a community resource, and help to maintain the college's presence throughout the county. The Peekskill Extension Center of Westchester Community College has something to offer for everyone. This Center is part of the lifeblood of the community in Peekskill and a vibrant component of northern Westchester and Putnam counties.

TECHNICAL UPDATES AT PEEKSKILL

Hardware Update The Peekskill Extension has seven MakerBot 3D printers and two Digital 3D scanners for use in our digital classes. These printers use PLA Filament, a nontoxic resin made of sugar derived from field corn. PLA Filament is a good material to start with; it's easy to use and performs well on most prints.

Smart Board™ configurations and instructional technology have been added to five of our academic classrooms. All of our classrooms, lecture halls, and labs provide tools for teaching with technology via computers, projectors, and media players.

The Center's five post-production studios are outfitted with powerful iMac workstations, which are available for students taking digital filmmaking, digital imaging, web design, graphic design, game design, and animation classes.

Software Update The Center uses Autodesk® Maya® with Arnold render engine for our cutting-edge software offering in Intro to Animation. Maya is a powerful professional-level software package used by many digital media companies for 3D content creation and animation. We are now using Sketch for our UX/UI design classes. Sketch's fully vector-based workflow makes it easy to create beautiful, high-quality artwork from start to finish.

The digital arts studios at the Center provide the latest version of Adobe Design Creative Cloud, an important industrial grade software package. The facility offers current versions of Final Cut Pro and Adobe After Effects in our filmmaking studios. The latest Apple Operating System (OS) runs on our workstations.

If you would like to learn more, please contact the Technical Support Office at 914-606-7382.
