

- The American Psychological Association (APA) style is commonly used to cite sources within the behavioral and social sciences. Check with your professor to see if they require APA citation style.
- You must give proper credit to all the sources used in a research paper. Properly citing your sources will help you avoid committing plagiarism.
- Properly citing a source consists of an in-text citation and the full citation

If you need more help you can:

1. Consult the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association.

American Psychological Association. (2010). Publication manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.). Washington, DC: American Psychological Association

It's located at the reference desk. You can ask a librarian for assistance too.

2. Consult APA style blog. The APA uses this blog for updates on how to cite sources.
3. Use EasyBib Pro to create your Reference page and in-text citations. The WCC library has an online guide on using EasyBib Pro.

Along with providing the full citation you must credit your source within the body of your paper by using an in-text citation. The in-text citation is a way of communicating to the reader what source you are using in the text of your paper. APA format requires the author, year and page for in-text citations.

Example: (Smith, 2000, p. 20)

If the information you are citing is from more than one page you would use pp. instead of p. to indicate more than one page is being cited

Example: (Smith, 2000, pp. 23-24)

If you are citing a work that doesn't have pagination (such as a website) indicate which paragraph the information appears in by using para. for an abbreviation of the word paragraph.

Example: (Thomas, 2015, para. 3)

If you are citing a work that has two authors you must list both last names

Example: (Jameson & Harris, 2003, p. 42)

If you are citing a work that has between three and five authors you must list all of the authors' names the first time you cite the work. Each subsequent time the work you need to provide the first author listed followed by an et al.

Example: 1st time citing a source with four authors
(Parker, Sterling, Hodges & Taylor, 2015, p. 87)

Each additional citation would be (Parker et al., 2015, p. 87)

If you are citing a work that has six or more authors cite the last name of the first author followed by an et al.

Example: (Daly et al., 2010, p. 78)

If you are citing a work that is authored by a group (a government agency, corporation, non-profit association, think tank) you must type out the group name as it appears in the text

Example: (The Annenberg Foundation, 2014, par. 3)

If you are citing a work that doesn't have a date of publication use n.d. (no date) in place of a date.

Example: (National Health Institute, n.d., par. 4)

If you are citing a work that doesn't have an author you'll need to state part of the title in your in-text citation. Make sure that the title is put in double quotes (" ").

Example: Below is the full citation for a webpage without a listed author.

State-by-State Effects of a Ruling for the Challengers in King v. Burwell. (2015). Retrieved June 1, 2015, from <http://kff.org/interactive/king-v-burwell-effects/>

The citation starts with State-by-State Effects of a Ruling for the Challengers in King v. Burwell

So the in-text citation would be ("State-by-State Effects", 2015, par. 2)

If you are citing a particular quote from a video or audio recording provide the time stamp of when the quote occurs:

Example: (Ferris, 2008, 3:15)

Properly citing sources requires recording various elements of a source. A full citation for a source includes the following elements:

Author(s):

Date of Publication

Title of Work

Publication Information

And Retrieval method if the source is online.

If you are citing online materials

When you are citing an online source (article, webpage, journal article, video, etc.) you have to provide a retrieval method to the source. This could be one of three things:

- A DOI (Digital Object Identifier) is alpha numeric string that acts as a permanent address for online materials. Online academic journals are the most common source type to have a DOI. To see what a reference with a DOI looks like go to example 6 Online Journal with DOI
- If you are citing a source you found through a WCC online resource (such as a database) which doesn't have a DOI you'll need to include a permalink. A permalink is a permanent link provided by the database that will take a WCC user directly to the source. This is generally sufficient for an assignment but check with your professor if they require an alternative method.
- If you are citing a source from the World Wide Web that doesn't have DOI provide the full url.

Creating a References page

- All of the references in your paper are listed alphabetically by the first word of each citation.
- All citations are doubled spaced.
- Use a hanging indent to create a citation. A hanging indent is when all lines after the first line are indented one-half inch from the margin. Refer to this guide from Microsoft on how to create a hanging indent in Word.
- Capitalize only the first word of a title, a subtitle and any proper nouns.
- If the source is a periodical, then capitalize the first word of the title and each additional word. Do not capitalize prepositions, conjunctions or articles that are 1-3 letters in length.

Common reference formats by source type:

Periodicals Periodical in Print

Author Last Name, First Initial. (Date of publication). Title of Article. Name of Periodical, Publication

Periodical published Online

Author Last Name, First Initial. (Date of publication). Title of Article. Name of Periodical, Publication
Data, page(s). Retrieved from internet address

Note: References for online materials DO NOT end with a period.

Some things to consider:

- Publication date can include the full date, not just the year so check to see how much information they provide.
- If a source has more than seven authors, you will list the first six authors followed by an ellipsis (...) and then the last author in the study. To see an example go to 6. Journal article \(online w/DOI\).

1. Magazine article (print):

Wolff, A. (2015, July 6). Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Sports Illustrated, 123(1), 118-123.

In-text citation: (Wolf, 2015, p. 120)

2. Magazine article (online):

---

Hodges, G. (2015, January). First Americans. National Geographic. Retrieved from

<http://ngm.nationalgeographic.com/2015/01/first-americans/hodges-text>

In-text citation: (Hodges, 2015, para. 2)

3. Newspaper article (print):

---

Taylor, A. (2015, July 29). Scientists: Virus not bridge work, killed Hudson fish. The Journal News, p. 1A,8A.

In-text citation: (Taylor, 2015, p. 8A)

4. Newspaper article (online)

---

Nuwer, R. (2014, February 24). Like Columbus, it floated here. The New York Times, p. D3. Retrieved from <http://www.nytimes.com/2014/02/25/science/out-of-their-gourds-cameours.html>

In-text citation: (Nuwer, 2014, D3)

Sometimes a newspaper publishes online only content. In that case there would be no pages to include in the reference. You would still state which paragraph you're quoting:

Jackson, D. W. (2015, February 10). For many veterans, 'American Sniper,' right or wrong, starts an important conversation. The New York Times. Retrieved from atwar.blogs.nytimes.com In-text citation (Jackson, 2015, para. 2)

5. Journal article (print version)

---

Clemency, B. M., Ott, J. A., Tanski, C. T., Bart, J. A., & Lindstrom, H. A. (2015). Parenteral midazolam is superior to diazepam for treatment of prehospital seizures. Prehospital Emergency Care, 19(2), 218-223.

In-text citation: First time cited (Clemency, Ott, Tanski, Bart, & Lindstrom, 2015, p. 221)

Then each additional citation would be (Clemency et al, 2015, p. 225)

6. Journal article (online w/DOI)

Puckett, E. E., Kristensen, T. V., Wilton, C. M., Lyda, S. B., Noyce, K. V., Holahan, P. M., & ... Eggert, L. S. (2014). ### Websites and digital materials General format for a website

Author, A. (date). Title of web page. [Format description]. Retrieved from <http://URL>

- You do not end a citation to an online item with period.
- You will put in the full web address (url) for the citation.
- Include the format description if the online source is not a book or periodical article.
- Some examples of format descriptions for online sources can include:
- Movie, Interview, Review, Blog post, Wikipedia article, You Tube video, Report, podcast.
- If the webpage doesn't match any of these type use Information on a webpage. So see an example go to source 18. Website with a corporate author
